JB Productions Delivers Virtual Scuba Vacations to Desktop Computers

Experience the Relaxation of Sea Life Music Videos at Home or at the Office

BOSTON, Mass., March 2, 2002 -- JB Productions today introduced their new, innovative multimedia product at the Boston Gift Show®. Underwater music videos on CD-ROM, DVD and VHS enable viewers to enjoy a virtual vacation break wherever they are. Designed to be both relaxing and informative, the videos feature exceptional underwater footage paired with exotic selections from Sugo Music's World Music Series.

Each CD-ROM showcases a sampling of sea life commonly observed while scuba diving in a specific geographic region while richly textured music complements the movements of the marine life subjects. Computer playback provides viewers with access to a menu of options including sea life identification documentation, audio selection information and hyperlinks to Internet web sites. Video quality is comparable to VHS. All documentation contained on the CD-ROM may be accessed on the JB Productions web site, www.seavideos.com.

For those who prefer VHS or DVD to CD-ROM, Surface Interval Virtual Dives™ Volume 1 is a compilation of videos from four CDs - Underwater Cozumel, The Great Barrier Reef, Underwater Kona and Night Mantas. While VHS viewers can go to the web for detailed information about each video, DVD viewers have interactive menus that allow them to navigate the videos and view scene-specific information on demand. The VHS version of Surface Interval Virtual Dives™ Volume 1, and CD-ROMs Underwater Kona and Night Mantas are currently available over the internet at www.seavideos.com and will soon be available nationwide at leading specialty retailers. DVDs will be in stores May 15th.

In these videos, Judy Brown combines her love of the ocean with her video and computer background to produce a visual experience enjoyed by viewers of all ages and backgrounds. Marti Hegg, a scuba diver from Chicago writes, "The picture quality is wonderful, and it's been edited to show the best of the dives -- the things you wish you had a picture of. The music adds the perfect finishing touch....My favorite is the Night Mantas at Kona. I could watch their magnificent ballet forever." These videos truly deliver a virtual vacation to the deskbound.
